

Use of modpacks

We (the management of DPG) receive regular questions about the use of modpacks. If you want to use one, we recommend downloading a modpack from Wargaming's mod hub:

<https://wgmods.net/>

We prefer the modpack from Aslain because we also use this ourselves. Unfortunately, we cannot assist in supporting other modpacks as we have no knowledge of them. Don't forget to activate your XVM after installation:

It is important for those who ride in a team to activate XMQP. This allows you to exchange more information with your teammates.

New officers within DPG

A number of people have recently been given a new position within DPG. For the sake of clarity, we list them here:

DPG1, executive officer: Davey (Daveyessex)
DPG1 en 2, personnel officer: Dennis (Kingkittie / Stradlle1308))
DPG2, recruiter: Robin (Robogamers_1)

We wish these fighters every success in their new position!

Clan wars

DPG1 participated with one team in the latest campaign on the Global Map. Although we have not been able to capture reward tanks on Tier X, we can still look back on a successful campaign. This is because we have achieved all the predetermined goals. We will list those goals:

1. Ride the entire campaign with one full team.
2. Allow the player to assemble a tier 7 or 8 tank.
3. Enable players with a lot of bonds to bid in the auction for Tier X.
4. Let players and field commanders gain experience for the future.

Unfortunately, we have noticed that there were sometimes more players than places in the team and players who had "difficulty" with the choices of the FCs. These are situations in which we can never keep everyone happy and would like to understand them a little more. There is no I in team ...

The best clan war tanks

We are regularly asked which tanks are best for the clan wars on the Global Map. We recommend that you watch this video to determine which tanks you like the most and which suit your playing style best:

Team training

On Friday, January 29, we will again hold a team training for all DPG employees under the guidance of Jos Schmitz. As usual Jos will take us through the secrets of a map and this time we will also pay attention to technical topics such as how to do the focus fire, what a push means and how to drive around a corner together. Gathering at 8 p.m. and start at 8.30 pm at the latest!
