

New! DPG Newsletter

We are proud that we as of now can now issue a DPG newsletter.

We have found Marc (Klavertje007) willing to collect all kinds of information on a regular basis and to offer you a newsletter.

Of course we would like to have feedback to better meet your expectations. You can also specify items that you would like to include/want to see in this newsletter.

Custom format TS

Various members have asked for a so-called silence channel. That is a channel where you can go sit down and play games undisturbed, for example because you can't use a headset at home or just because you want some peace around you. Panne is working on creating a separate channel for this. Once it's done it will be set active.

Upcoming Global Map (GM) campaign

Based on announcements from Wargaming, another campaign for the GM will start around mid-January. Reward tanks will again be available to be earned. The honesty command us to acknowledge that we on this moment probably no tanks will win. To continue to build on a future event where this is maybe possible, we will ride out with a permanent team on tier X. This team will consist of the players who have in the previous period actively participated in the GM, advances and skirmishes. The remaining players can take any spot in open spaces. Marco (Rincewind) will announce the team layout shortly.

Team training

On Friday December 18 at 8.30 pm there will be another team training organized for all DPG members. Under the guidance of Jos Schmitz we will then deepen the Westfield map and tackle a number of other issues. Check out our FB page for further announcements!

Clan tournament with Pz 1c race

On Friday, December 11, a clan tournament will be held led by Ronald (Dutchkoning) and Patrick (Breezer). It is a racing event with the Pz 1c, a German tier 3 collection vehicle. All DPG members are welcome to ride! See also our Facebook page.

DPG on Facebook and Whatsapp

DPG has its own Facebook page (managed by Marc / Klavertje007) and his own Whatsapp group (managed by Marco / Rincewind). If you want to join please contact the persons mentioned.

Fixed times DPG strongholds

DPG has fixed times when strongholds are run. On these evenings we gather 8:00 pm on the TS channel.

DPG1 runs on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. On Wednesday we try to expand it to one Offensive / Advance at 9pm.

DPG2 runs on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

On other evenings we depend on whether there are enough players and whether a FC is available. You can always join the other clan if there are open places!
